

The Foundation for the Aid of the Environment, Arts, Culture and Youth of Costa Rica, Inc., registered in California is SEARCHING for an organized, innovative, and proactive English curriculum specialist and teacher to work and live in Punta Islita, in the Pacific Northwest Coast of Costa Rica, serving rural communities. This is a long-term position, only people willing to consider 1+ year commitment will be considered.

Must:

- Be bilingual, English (C1 level) and Spanish,
- Hold TESOL certification from an accredited program OR MA in TESOL or Applied Linguistics
- Have at least a BA in Education
- Have at least 1 year of experience living in and working with rural communities,
- Have two years of experience in English program development
- Have experience teaching English to Spanish-speaking students in grades K-12
- Have experience with technology in the classroom and willingness to learn and use specialized software for English Language teaching.
- Have experience in educational leadership.
- Willing to live in rural Costa Rica and work in a face-to-face environment for a year or more.

Desirable:

- Experience living and working in rural communities in Latin America
- Experience teaching ESP for 10-12 graders and adults.
- MA in TESOL or Applied Linguistics

Attractive compensation package.

Write to: islitafoundationcv@gmail.com , explaining why you are applying for the position and include résumé or CV. Only candidates meeting the requirements will be reviewed and proceed to further evaluation.

Deadline: January 7th, 2022.